overview

CÉU D'ELLIA

Céu D'Ellia is an Italian Brazilian, fluent in English, Portuguese, and French.

His professional experience, in Brazil, the United States, France and England, is in all areas of animated film production, working as a screenwriter, animator, designer, director and producer. He began his career directing and animating commercials for the biggest advertising agencies in Brazil, for which he won important awards.

In the entertainment film animation industry, he worked as Supervising Animator for the feature films FIEVEL GOES WEST (Spielberg's Amblimation) and A GOOFY MOVIE (Disney). He was also Art Director, Supervising Animator and Director at Little Airplane (2015-2017), a provider of animated series for Disney Jr, Discovery Kids and other channels.

Among the various animated short films he directed, the following stand out: ADEUS (1988), chosen by the Clermont-Ferrand Festival as one of the most outstanding Brazilian shorts of all time; a series of animated shorts, with socio-environmental themes, produced at NUPA (2009-2012), a center created and directed by Céu, in São Paulo, to encourage the development of Brazilian animated cinema; LOVE WILL RESCUE YOU (2015), about trafficking (slavery) of children in Burma and Thailand.

Céu's interest in socio-environmental issues emerges as a theme throughout his creations. He has been conducting field research since 1990 and has been awarded, among others, the VITAE grant for art research from the Rockefeller Foundation and the HOPES FOR THE FUTURE award from IUAPPA/IAS.

From 2019 to 2023, he has developed METRÔTOONS, a broad communication campaign, through animations, illustrations and visual design, for the São Paulo Metrô. The metro operation involves 7.8 million passengers per day, and the campaign created by Céu is considered, according to a survey with users, one of the most efficient actions carried out since the service was founded.

He is currently developing the adult comic book PSYCHE D'ELLIA and LUCHT VOOR KINDEREN - animated nursery rhymes for his Belgian grandson —in addition to ongoing research into FINE ART.

Céu D'Ellia's works are notable for the precision and refinement of their compositions, and, although they have characteristics that refer them to a fantastic universe, they are, in fact, conceptual investigations, which reveal a deep anguish, permeated with irony, in the face of the increasingly idiosyncratic world in which we live.

FERNANDO MEIRELLES

São Paulo, Brazil
cinema director and member of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences of Hollywood

Céu is not only extraordinarily versatile and talented, but he also has the unusual creative ability to develop new ways of approaching the audience and the theme of a film. I especially admire his short films, and his production at NUPA, from 2009 to 2012.

JOSH SELIG

New York City, USA
ceo and creative director Little Airplane

Céu's design and animation work is among the very best I've ever seen. I was deeply impressed by his ability to work well with both the pre-production team in New York and the animation team in China. His leadership ability, combined with visual acuity, is very special. He has a wide range of design talents, ranging from animation to photography and visual arts.

LÉA ZAGURY

Céu is an artist of many facets and among few he is a painter, an animator, and a documentary filmmaker. His creations are precise, powerful, intense, and deep. It amazes me how he easily can produce a beautiful, detailed work or a series of astonishing fast drawings that brilliantly comes to life in suspended or projected animation.

NANCY BEIMAN

(In all the films we have worked on together), I have been impressed by how Céu maintains a high standard of work and acting, equivalent to artists who have been trained in animation programs such as the California Institute of the Arts, Sheridan College, and the Ecole Des Gobelins, in Paris. What's most notable is that he is a self-taught animator, and has excelled artistically, working with artists from 21 different countries.

CARLOS A. CALIL

film teacher
ECA-USP

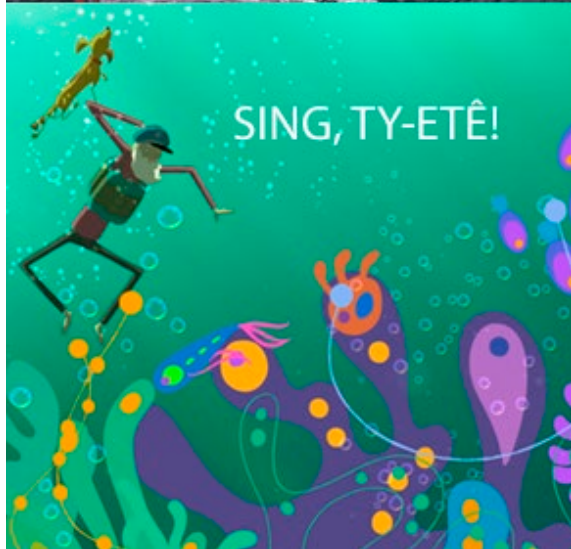

(Secretary of Culture of the city of São Paulo, from 2005 to 2012) At NUPA, Céu integrated professional training for young people on the outskirts with the passionate collaboration of great artists from the city. He opened discussions on city themes, such as literature, mobility, and the environment. All this, while producing beautiful, animated shorts, which now enrich the municipal collection.

ULI MEYER

London, United Kingdom
animation producer and filmmaker

I have known Céu D'Ellia since we first met on the production of An American Tail 2 for Universal Pictures (1988). Céu is not only an outstanding artist and designer, but he has also been working successfully as a producer, running his own company. In both capacities he has worked with me over the years and has always delivered sterling work, professional and reliable. Céu has that rare gift of understanding both the needs of the artist and the demands of a production.

PAULICÉIA SING, TY-ETÊ! (direction & production), animated short film, choice of the audience as best film, Brafftv/ UP to 3 Brazilian Short Animation Exhibition of Toronto, Canada, 2013. The film was a product of NUPA (São Paulo Animation Center), an animation production house that supported a free center-studio-school, created, and directed by Céu, for almost four years. The center was located at the CCJ Youth Cultural Center, on the outskirts of São Paulo. It provided an opportunity for students without money to become animation professionals. Its production was quite successful, with public discussions about the content of the films and raising awareness about socio-environmental issues in São Paulo.

ZÚ KINKAJÚ (story & art), comic book for children, São Paulo State Culture Department edition award, Brazil, 2011.

MÃMMÃBUGES (screenplay, direction & design), animated series TV pilot, São Paulo City Culture Department development award, Brazil, 2008.

MĂMĂMBUGÉ YANDÚ (story plot & design), content research, Rockefeller Foundation VITAE Grant, animation content research grant, Brazil, 1994. Céu's interest in ecological themes, children and cultural matrices motivated him to create stories and characters for children. In 1994 he received his first research grant, and over the years, inspired by his travels in the wild regions of South America and his experiences with indigenous people, Céu created characters such as MãmMãmBugé Yandu, Nana Banana and Zu Kinkaju, featured in pilot films, comics, and documentaries.

PLOC MONSTERS (creation & art), illustrations collection, Marketing Top award, Brazil, 1988. In a single month, 78 million units were sold TOVEX DUPONT (creation & art), cartoon series, Golden Columnists award, best advertising illustration, Brazil, 1985.

MONTERREY LIGHTS NEON (screenplay, direction & design), advertising films, Golden Columnists award, best advertising film, Brazil, 1985. Céu's professional career began in Brazil in 1979, directing and animating advertising, institutional and informative films. He also created characters and illustrations for several campaigns. Since then, he has been producing award-winning works for clients such as: Banco Itaú, Carrefour, Cinemark, Coca-Cola, Flix, Fuji-Films, General Motors, Gessy Lever, Kraft Foods, Nestlé, Philip Morris, among others.

scientific-environmental award

Unique eco-project wins top award

Brazilian environmental program draws world attention

By William vanwesen

A unique Brazilian environmental education project was considered so exceptional in its philosophical and practical approach that a special prize was created for it by the International Science Academy, after studying over 1,000 competing entries from 50 countries around the world.

The "Hopes of the Future" Special Prize, awarded on July 4 in Innsbruck, will be officially handed over to biologist André de Roddes Vieira, of Curitiba, state capital of Paraná, and São Paulo motion picture producer Céu D'Ellia at Second Sun awards. "Hopes of the Future" in cooperation with the International Union of Air Pollution Prevention and Environmental Protection Association (IUAPPA), regularly awards two prizes usually concern projects in the fields of ecological techniques, alternative energy and pollution control.

After studying Vieira's and D'Ellia's project, the selecting committee came to the conclusion that the creation of a special prize would be the best way to honor their work which, according to Austrian scientist Walter Kofler of the Innsbruck University, makes it clear that it is not only science, technology and the economy which will save the planet, but also education. The original suggestion that make up the Brazilian project, and the way that is presented, further contributed to create more than a fleeting in partnership with biologist Andréa Vieira

SUPER ECO COMMUNICATION & ENVIRONMENT: Hopes for the Future for a Sustainable World Special Award, IUAPPA/ IAS, 1996 (Switzerland, United Kingdom) Presented at USP (University of São Paulo), São Paulo, Brazil. Motivated by concern for children and environment issues, as well as his experience of how consumer habits are influenced by advertising and film entertainment, Céu wrote a paper with a proposal for ethical principles for mass media communication. Initially with ten principles, after tests were conducted, Céu summarized it to only three: Eco Efficiency, Biophilia & Key Question.
